

NOVEMBER 2009

Lauren Turns 5!

It's hard to believe that our daughter is turning five, the sixteenth of this month.

In celebration of her birthday, I'm offering a 5% discount on all purchases during the month of November. To receive this discount, please email your order to me at melanie@piecingittogether.com and I'll send you a request for payment.

New Items Have Been Added

I am continually adding new items to the website. Coming this week, a new premium lanyard, with my own custom autism awareness embroidery design. Also, additional sizes and configurations of Biagi bracelets and necklaces, to express your particular style with grace and style.

EXCITING NEWS!

I have partnered with two new lines, Zable and Angel Moore and will begin carrying part of their line of autism pieces later this month.

I sincerely appreciate all the love and support I've received since starting piecing It Together. I've met many others who share my path of raising a child with autism.

ATTITUDE is EVERYTHING! I Am determined to raise TWO happy children and enjoy my life by seeing the blessings I've been given.
